

INTERNATIONAL YOUTH SUMMER CAMP

JULY 24TH – 30TH 2016,
CÁNOVES, CATALONIA

Are you one of the hundreds of thousands thrilled by Jeremy Corbyn's election as Labour leader? Are you angry about racism, the migrant crisis, and the rise of the far right?

With the world torn apart by war and greed, and climate calamity on our doorstep, it's important to understand the reasons why in order to fight back. That's what the Fourth International's annual youth camp in Catalonia is all about. In a week in the sun with hundreds of young workers, students and campaigners from across Europe you'll have the chance to:

- join meetings, workshops, self-organised spaces
- discuss socialism, feminism, anti-racism, LGBTI struggles, climate change, internationalism and the fight against austerity

- meet leaders of campaigns that rarely make it into the mass media
- talk culture and communication
- socialise, share experiences, debate ideas and plan joint actions

There is a unique opportunity for young activists from Britain to meet with other environmentalists, feminists and socialists.

Hosting the 33rd International Youth Summer Camp in Cánoves, near Barcelona, in July 2016 is Anticapitalistas, sister organisation in Catalonia of Socialist Resistance (SR).

SR will be bringing a group from Britain. Last year's delegation included Labour Party members, activists from the National Campaign Against Fees and Cuts (NCAFC), Plan C, Left Unity and the Woodcraft Folk. If your politics are somewhere around there you'll love the camp.

You will need approximately £110 for the week, including food - plus travel to Catalonia. So bring your passport, tent and sleeping bag and get ready to change the world.

Much of the site is accessible but if you have access needs please discuss them with us
