

23-29 July, ITALY International Camp for Young Environmental- ists, Feminists and Socialists

Interested in socialism, feminism and environmentalism? So are we!

That's what the International Socialist Youth Camp is all about. Every year, hundreds of young activists come together at this event organised by the Fourth International.

You'll have the chance to go to rallies, participate in workshops, join self-organised women's and LGBTIQ+ spaces, and have fun. Sessions include fighting austerity, climate change, migrant rights and free movement, international solidarity, the recent women's strikes, and the resistance to Trump.

It is a unique opportunity to discuss, share experiences, benefit from other perspectives, and plan joint actions!

Socialist Resistance will be bringing a delegation from Britain. If you are amongst the thousands upon thousands of young people supporting Jeremy Corbyn you'd be more than welcome.

You will need a tent and a sleeping bag. The cost for the week, including food is estimated to be £120 plus travel to Otranto. So if you'd like to come along or want more information, get in touch!

Who we are

Socialist Resistance is an ecosocialist, feminist and internationalist organisation, active in the Labour Party, trade unions, the student movement and international solidarity campaigns. We oppose all cuts and seek to link campaigns against austerity to the struggle against climate change and the defence of the environment.

Capitalism and other such oppressive structures exist on a global scale and the fight against them cannot be limited to one country. That is why we are internationalists. Socialist Resistance supports the Fourth International, an international network present in over 50 countries worldwide. This gives us the opportunity to debate ideas and learn from experiences across the globe. The FI has an English language website at www.internationalviewpoint.org

Kick the Tories out Organise for a Labour government

We are living in remarkable times. It's entirely possible that Jeremy Corbyn and John McDonnell will be leading a radical socialist Labour government before the end of the year.

You need to be part of making that happen.

Since Jeremy became leader, Labour now has well over 500,000 members. If you have not already done so, you need to join the Labour Party.

You may already be active in your union or as a campaigner and you need to carry on doing that. But right now socialists, environmentalists, feminists, trade unionists, tenant activists, peace activists and anti-racists need to be in the Labour Party bringing those experiences into a new type of socialist party.

Corbyn and McDonnell don't see a separation between what they argue for in Parliament and what their supporters organise around in their workplaces and communities. They feed each other.

And the struggles inside the party matter too. We need a membership which demands Labour councillors and MPs resist austerity rather than manage it. We will need new councillors and MPs who stand for the same things as Jeremy Corbyn, Diane Abbott and John McDonnell. For this to happen there has to be party members who support them and campaign for them.

Usually British elections lead to a period of political hiatus. But this time the pace hasn't slowed. Jeremy Corbyn says that Labour is a government in waiting. It has a programme that will immediately transform British society for the better and have an impact that will be felt around the world.

You have a chance to be part of the most exciting, dynamic and largest movement for change you've ever lived through. Join Corbyn's Labour Party and bring that change a little closer.
